Engineer/Businessman

The United States has given me opportunities to attend colleges to earn my Bachelor and Master's degrees in electronics. I'm a product of public education. I have worked in the aerospace engineering field for 25 years and also more than 30 years in real estate including construction in Orange County. I've achieved the "American Dream". I now want to pay back and help our young students, the future of our country.

Our working parents and children are struggling to find quality education and fighting off dangers brought on from societal upheavals and social media in the digital age. In addition, too many governmental programs from Washington to Sacramento have poisoned the minds of our children.

The mission of education is to educate our children with practical learning such as Math, Physics, Chemistry, Science, Reading or Writing. Parents should be allowed to be partners in the education of their children.

If elected, together with Parents, I will dedicate myself to tackle the above issues to make sure that our students learn a real education to prepare for higher education, have superior knowledge to pursue a good career to support themselves and their families and be productive citizens.
