

BEATRIZ MENDOZA

Financial Services Educator

A lifelong Orange County native who grew up here, attended local public schools, and where I've raised my family, I've witnessed firsthand the need for change. I'm a non-profit executive, volunteer, education expert, and mother of three. I've spent my life serving our kids and I'm running for Orange County Board of Education to bring change and new leadership that puts students first.

I've given back to the community that raised me, volunteering as a planning commissioner, with the Santa Ana Kiwanis, the League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC), and the PTA Executive Board where my children attended school.

I'm deeply concerned about the direction of our County Board. Our focus should be on student success and safety, with taxpayer money spent directly on classrooms, not squandered on lawsuits that serve a political agenda.

Once elected, I will:

Cut wasteful Spending and maintain fiscal oversight.

Ensure our curriculum prepares students for the 21st Century economy.

Renew focus on mental health so no child is left behind.

I'm proud to have the endorsement of our local classroom teachers and numerous organizations that prioritize students.

Strong schools build great communities.

Let's put our kids first by March 5th.
